Unleash EU Direct Selling entrepreneurial potential

For the 2024-2029 mandate of the EU Institutions, we present a series of proposals to enhance the competitiveness of the Single Market. Our goal is to create a business environment that is both socially responsible and conducive to the growth of the Direct Selling sector across the EU.

We advocate for harmonised consumer protection, reinforced by effective enforcement, alongside initiatives to protect and promote entrepreneurship and skills.

1

Address consumer protection gaps: Toward more effective enforcement

Consumer protection ensures consumer trust in products and services.

While, fragmented enforcement across Member States causes:

- Inconsistencies
- Unfair competition
- Unpredictable business environment
- Increased costs for SMEs.

We urge EU policymakers to:

- Establish clear and uniform consumer protection standards.
- Provide regulatory bodies with stronger tools and additional resources for effective and consistent enforcement.

2

Revitalise the entrepreneurship spirit: Supporting micro-entrepreneurs

Direct Selling, involving 6 million European entrepreneurs, is a great example of micro-entrepreneurship.

We urge EU policymakers to:

- Establish clear definitions and legal frameworks to recognise micro-entrepreneurship and self-employment.
- Simplify regulatory processes by eliminating barriers that discourage micro-entrepreneurs.
- Implement tax incentives and supportive programs offering funding, training, and resources to entrepreneurs.

3

Foster skills across the EU: Recognising direct sellers' abilities

Direct Selling provides individuals the opportunity to develop interpersonal and entrepreneurial skills.

These skills are transferable to other business and employment ventures, contributing positively to both individuals and the broader economy.

We urge EU policymakers to:

Recognise in-company training for direct sellers.

Direct Selling operates in a unique way

Direct contact and personal connection between sellers and customers are the core of Direct Selling, regardless of the method.

We describe ourselves as omnichannel. Direct sellers use a range of channels both offline and online, including:

Personal networks

Home parties/
Product demos

Social media

Personalised services and high-quality products are sold directly to consumers.

Like in any other business, independent direct sellers receive a compensation based on sales.
